KPMG staffers support Earth Day

Before the heat of the sun and before breakfast, KPMG staffers and their families rose early to collect litter on West Bay Road and along seven Mile Beach as part of the Chamber of Commerce's Earth Day. As KPMG's Kendell Pierre noted "The crack of dawn start on a Saturday morning had me thinking twice about signing up but I'm extremely glad that I did and was able to share in this wonderful experience. I was especially proud to see my little one and so many other young kids doing their bit for our environment."

With 'cigarette ends' winning the award for the most littered item, protecting our environment for future generations is arguably one of the biggest challenge we face. To help tackle the local issue, KPMG's environment coordinator Lauren Christie says, "our firm's environment policy is geared towards reducing, reusing and recycling with the aim of helping to reduce our local carbon footprint, it's great to see so many colleagues here today making a positive impact."

As part of their continued commitment to the environment, KPMG are also the main sponsors for the Central Caribbean Marine Institutes Ocean Literacy program and last year cleaned up Barkers Beach as part of their Make a Difference Day.
